New Dress—The Barnsville Enterprise

comes to us this week in a new and beautiful dress and considerably enlarged. The paper is conducted with skill and good taste; and we are very glad to notice this evidence of its prosperity.

POLITE LITTLE GIRL—The Barnsville Enterprise

says that a few miles from that town a gentleman riding up to a residence asked a bright-eyed little girl if her father was at home. She replied, in childish accents, "No, he has gone to Miller Barnsville."

FREE IN CHARLESTON—A dispatch received yesterday

by Mr. JOHN BRIDGES, Secretary of the National Insurance Company of this city, announces that a fire occurred in Charleston, Kanawha, yesterday (Friday) morning, resulting in a destruction of property to the amount of $75,000. The National loses $2,200 by an insurance on the store of W. A. QUARRIE. The Franklin, we hear, also loses $2,500 and the West Virginia $2,000.

BERKELEY COUNTY.—The census exhibits the following facts as to this county:

Total population, 14,907; of whom but 1,633 are colored; males, 7,429; females, 7,478; foreign born, 684; dwellings, 2,534; families, 3,840; births during year ending June 1, 1870, and living at that date, 333; deaths during same year, 183; farms 720; manufacturing establishments producing annually $500 and upwards, 152. Martinsburg has a total population of 4,864, of whom 469 are colored.

The Contest for the Reappointment in Ohio.

Our readers are aware that the Republicans had a majority of but one in the Senate of Ohio chosen last fall. One of the Republican Senators, Gen. PORTS, of the Alliance district, recently resigned to accept an appointment as Governor of Montana. This left the Senate equally divided. The Legislature at its next session will reappoint the State for federal representation in Congress. The importance of having a Republican elected in place of Gen. PORTS, so as to give the Republicans control of both Houses, is therefore apparent. The importance of defeating him has been equally apparent to the Democrats, and prior to Tuesday's election a desperate contest over the candidates to fill the vacancy was fought in that district. It was considered far more important in a party sense than the result in any Congressional district. The whole State was interested in the result, and the Democrats brought every appliance to bear that it was possible to command to defeat the Republican candidate, Mr. ARTHUR C. WALKER. Mr. WALKER, however, is handsomely elected, the Ohio Senate is again Republican, and the re-appointment, it is presumed, will not be made against the Republicans. This is one of the biggest victories of Tuesday's elections.

Results in Pennsylvania.

From Yesterday's Pittsburgh Gazette. Pennsylvania will stand represented as before. Oliver and Shoemaker from the Sixth and Twelfth Districts have been elected to take the place of Democrat. It is not certain as yet that the former of the Fifth District has not been elected, although there is some doubt. The fullest information we have yet received, gives the Democratic majority in Bucks, or Reading, Democrat, at five hundred, where in 1868 it was over seven hundred. This is a fact, together with the fact of the general weakness of the votes cast, but is due in a great measure to positive Republican gains. Reading's (Democrat) majority in 1868 was only 41. Basing our conclusions only from the meager information we have as yet received, we would say that the political complexion of our State remains unchanged, and that the Republicans have achieved another glorious victory. We think Donnelly and Gilliland are undoubtedly defeated. Beyond this we cannot form an opinion based on solid grounds. For the Legislature is closed in but approximately to the best news we can glean we shall probably gain two members in Huntingdon and Mifflin, with the further prospect of a gain of one member in Luzerne, and the gain of another in Lycoming, Union and Snyder. We may lose one member in Washington and Beaver districts. This will make the stand six two Republicans to thirty-eight Democrats. The House last session stood sixty Republicans to forty Democrats. Counting however all doubtful districts as against us, we shall have a clear working majority in the House.

The Congressional Elections—Their Effect on the Campaign of 1872.

From the N. Y. Sun (Anti-Administration). The House of Representatives comprises 241 members. In the present House the Republicans have 163 and the Democrats 78 members, giving the former a majority of 85. To overcome this majority is a heavy task, but the Democrats are trying to accomplish it in the election of members for the next House. Elections for the next Congress have now been held in Vermont, Maine, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska. These eight States choose 76 members, or a little less than one-third of the whole. The five last named States voted on Tuesday of the present week. The complete returns are not yet received; but it is probable that the net gain of members for the Democrats is 3. That party claims to have gained 5 in the recent election of North Carolina, though the Republicans concede them only 3, and they also dispute some of the reported Democratic gains in Pennsylvania. Upon the whole, it may be safely assumed that the net aggregate of Democratic gains this year stands at 3. Judging from the elections which have already occurred, the Democrats will do well in those yet to come if they can make a net gain of 15 members out of the 165 remaining to be chosen. This will increase their number in the House by 33, giving them 196, and the Republicans 139 members, or a majority of 57. In members, or the unpopularity of Grant's Administration, and of the changing drift of the political tide in the South, as shown by the election in North Carolina, and of the Republican quarrel in half a dozen districts in the North, the Democrats may with good luck, further increase their majority of 57 to 70 or 80, thus obtaining 199 members, and leaving 133 to the Republicans, with a majority to the latter of 23. This, however, is extremely improbable, and we do not think the Republican majority in the next House can in any contingency be reduced lower than 30, and it is more likely to exceed 40. These calculations, which we believe will turn out to be substantially correct, have an important bearing upon the next Presidential election, because in a single instance during the last fifty years has it happened that the party which elected a clear majority of the House in the middle of a Presidential term has failed to choose the President at the end thereof. However, we forbear comment, until the November elections have taken place, and the books are posted.

PHILADELPHIA, October 13.

The result in the Fifth District can only be settled by the official report of the county. The Democratic majority there ranges from three to four hundred.

SIXTH DISTRICT.

It is thought John H. Oliver, Republican, has been chosen in the Sixth District over E. L. Acker, Democrat, but it is not certain, both sides claiming success.

SEVENTH DISTRICT.

Hon. Washington Townsend is certainly re-elected, defeating Hon. John H. Askins, the Democratic candidate.

EIGHTH DISTRICT.

J. Lawrence Getz, has been re-elected from the Democratic stronghold, Berks county, by a large majority.

NINTH DISTRICT.

Oliver J. Dickey, the Republican candidate in the Ninth District, (Lancaster county) has a handsome majority.

TENTH DISTRICT.

In the Tenth District, composed of Lebanon and Schuylkill counties, John W. Killinger, Republican, has a majority of 400 to 500 over C. W. Gloninger, Democrat.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT.

The Eleventh District, composed of Carbon, Monroe, Northampton, Pike and Wayne counties, elects John B. Storm, Democrat.

TWELFTH DISTRICT.

L. D. Shoemaker, Republican, will succeed Judge M. Ward in Congress as Representative of the Twelfth District, defeating J. B. McCollum, Democrat.

THIRTEENTH DISTRICT.

In the Thirteenth district Hon. Ulysses Mercur has been re-elected by an increased majority, the dissension in the Democratic ranks on the question of State Senator having drawn support from J. B. Brockway, the nominee of that party.

FOURTEENTH DISTRICT.

Hon. John H. Deffenbarger, Greenough Scott, Democrat, in the Fourteenth district.

FIFTEENTH DISTRICT.

Richard J. Haldeman, Democrat, is re-elected, defeating Rev. W. B. Baber.

SIXTEENTH DISTRICT.

The race in this district, composed of the counties of Adams, Bedford, Franklin and Somerset is very close. The friends of Mr. Cessna claim his election by 25 to 50 majority, but the full returns may show a different result.

Later.

HARRISBURG, October 13. The latest reports from the Sixteenth Congressional District make Meyers's Democrat, apparent majority 19 but it will require the official vote to determine with certainty who is elected.

SEVENTEENTH DISTRICT.

R. M. Speer, it is now conceded, has defeated Hon. D. J. Morrell by about one hundred majority.

Special to the Commercial.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., October 13, 1870. We hear nothing from Huntingdon but five hundred and ninety for Speer, which will elect him by one hundred and five. Blair gives four hundred and seventy-four for Morrell; Mifflin, nine for Speer; Cambria, twenty for Morrell. G. T. S.

Eighteenth District.

In the Eighteenth district, composed of Potter, Center, Clinton, Tioga and Lycoming counties, the contest is very close, with the chances in favor of the election of Henry Sherwood, Democrat over Hon. W. H. Armstrong, the present incumbent. The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin of Wednesday says: "At the time of writing we have not returned the result of the election, but the result is in the Congressional or Legislative district, but the contest is a close one, with the chances in favor of the defeat of the whole Republican ticket." In 1869 Geary had a majority of 2,710 in Tioga and 835 in Potter. Geary carried center by 623, Clinton by 670 and Lycoming by 584.

Special to the Commercial.

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 13. The vote is very close. Armstrong is probably elected by a small majority. The official vote will be required to decide. J. F. McG.

NINETEENTH DISTRICT.

The success of Hon. G. W. Scofield is conceded by all parties. His majority is not very materially from that of 1868.

Twentieth District.

Later reports received show that Samuel Griffin, Democrat, has 800 to 1,000 majority over Hon. C. W. Gilliland.

Twenty-first District.

Hon. Andrew Stewart's defeat is conceded by his friends, but it is thought Foster's estimated majority will be cut down to some extent by the official returns.

Twenty-second District.

Gen. Nagley, Regular Republican, has a majority of 1,223 over his opponents, with only twelve districts to hear from.

Twenty-third District.

Hon. George Meigs, Democrat, elected in this district over Wm. Strwell, Democrat, by a majority variously estimated at from 1,800 to 2,300.
